TALKED OF ALMA MATER

Lewis Academy Alumni Banquets and Listens

TO WORDS ABOUT SCHOOL

Words of Wit and Wisdom Flowed Last Night

With the utmost good cheer and jollity the class of 1902 of the Lewis academy was received into the Alumni association at the banquet held at the Hamilton hotel last night. Without doubt this was the largest gathering ever held by this association. Optimism was the keynote of the gathering. This has been a very prosperous year for the Lewis academy and the people who passed out of its doors into broader fields of life are always anxious to hear good news of their Alma Mater. The coming school year promises to be even better than the one just passed and this opinion had a wholesome influence with the members of the association and their guests.

The spacious parlors of the hotel were filled with a happy throng of young men and women and a few venerable patrons of the school, but the spirit of youth prevailed throughout the evening. Members of almost every class since the first one was graduated in 1885 were present last night. Of the later and larger classes there were many members present. Some few of the graduates have passed to the great beyond and the others are scattered to the four corners of the earth. Several are in the Orient, teaching in the hospitals and as missionaries.

Lewis academy is represented in almost every state in this country and not a few of the young men and women who have finished its courses but have made a name for themselves. Many are preachers and teachers, some in the large cities and schools, while some are in the Indian schools in the wide of the Dakotas and in the universities of Arizona.

April 23rd the members remained in the parlors where they talked over their school days, renewed acquaintances and made new ones and the old and new alumni told tales and incidents of their wanderings. The first was told by a young man, my life and the plans of the present time. The professors and a number of the trustees mingled with the happy students, for such they were for the time being, and added their stories of the trials of former years.

It was a jolly crowd that marched into the dining room. The tables had been arranged in the form of the square with center pieces of flowers which made a pretty contrast with the brilliant attire of the guests and the glittering silverware and cut glass. The feast was very truly fit for the gods and was partaken of heartily. The following was the menu served in courses and in the highest style:

Bouillon aux Croquettes.
Steak Tomatoes. Cucumber.
Chicken a la Maitre d'Hotel.
New Potatoes.
Cauliflower Hollandaise.
Mashed Potatoes.
Boiled Spring Chicken, an Omelette.
New Potatoes in Cream.
Hot French Rolls.
Mayonnaise of Shrimp.
Strawberry Ice Cream. Assorted Cakes.
Water, Crackers.
Coffee.

When the tables were cleared Mr. Gordon Oldham, the administrator, arose and called the assembly to order and announced the toasts. Mr. Oldham has a wit that is charming and a most pleasant address, and he certainly covered himself with glory by the manner in which he introduced the toasts and responses. When he called the people to order it was the beginning of a "feast of reason and a flow of soul" that more closely bound together the ties of friendship and fellowship that characterizes the students of a school. There was good advice offered and many stories told of the pranks of the students and professors. There was wit and wisdom in each and every speech and enough of each to make them interesting and yet that strain of seriousness that is always noticeable at school functions.

The keynote of each speech was some sentiment and the speakers brought out this in many ways, by illustration and fact. Miss Jean Le Allen of the class of '96 and the retiring president of the association, was the first speaker called on. She had the sentiment, "Farewell, a Long Farewell to all my Graduates." She was of the opinion that each student while in school considered himself great, but in this they found themselves mistaken after a short time in the world of business.

Miss Mabel West of the class of 1901 and the president-elect of the association, was called on to welcome the new class of graduates. Her sentiment was, "My Sated Days, When I was Green in Judgment," relating to the students who came from school, but she varied in the ways of the world. She gave a most hearty welcome to the members of the class of 1902, as they are now members of the association.

Mr. Mele Hutter, called upon to respond to the toast on behalf of the class, which he did briefly but in a way that was gratifying to the other members of the association, as he expressed the belief that the present class would do many things to add the academy. This is the largest class that ever graduated from the academy and much is expected of them.

"Our Bachelor Maids" was the subject of the toast responded to by Miss Katherine Junkman of the class of '92. Miss Junkman, as a maid of the class knew whereof she spoke, and her words of advice to the graduates, expressed in a most entertaining manner, was that of the experienced. She called on the young ladies to be true, dignified, and, above all, to show their womanly traits if they should choose to follow the life of the bachelor maid.

Some women draw some fathom the abysses of metaphysics; others are content with music, the most moderate shade of wit, while others have a genius turned for fun.

Mr. Clarence Reed of the class of '98 was called on to respond to the toast, "Hopes could never have so much." In his speech, a short history of each of the graduates of the past and told where each was and what they were doing. This was one of the most interesting features of the evening. There are many graduates from the Lewis academy, and to know where each one is located was a pleasure to many.

Miss Ella Buck was to respond to the toast, "The Library," but she was unavoidably absent, so Miss Kate Brown responded.

The subject depended on the sentiment, "A library is the stronghold of all that is great in life and the repository of all that is petty and mean," and the teacher showed the application of this sentence and urged the alumni to increase the academy library.

"A skeleton is not a thing of beauty, but it is a thing which, above all others, makes the body erect and strong," and the sentiment of the toast responded to by Mr. A. G. Small of the class of 1900, and his subject was "Our Backbones." This was a speech on the bones of bridges and what the body had done for the young men and women of the southern section of Kansas. He told of the great work of the little hand of an iron master in the higher education had done for the youth of this city and county, and gave them translated praise for their work.

Judge T. B. Wall, one of the trustees, responded to this toast.

These present last night were: Miss Eva M. Dewey was the only member.

CLUB HOUSE IS OPENED

Braeburnites Climax Golf Tournament With Reception.

HARRY HEIMPLE WINS

And Is Awarded Silver Trophy Cup.

The Braeburn Golf club opened its club house on Fairmount hill last night with an informal reception to the members of the club and invited guests. The affair was one of the most enjoyable social events of the year and was attended by about 200 people.

The opening and reception came as a climax to the conclusion of the tournament for the Mosbacher silver trophy cup, which has been in progress for three months and which was won yesterday by Harry Heimple, over Victor Murdock and Prof. C. P. Clark.

The club house is tastefully decorated in the club colors of scarlet and white. The porch was brilliantly lighted with Japanese lanterns. On the lawn were numerous tables where the guests could rest and enjoy the refreshing breeze.

The affair was entirely informal which added to the pleasure of the evening. Many of the guests passed the evening at cards, ping pong, and dancing. The Independent Mandolin club, under the direction of Prof. Maringer, furnished delightful music, refreshments consisting of lemon ice and cake were served.

The reception committee was composed of Mrs. C. W. Glendenn, Mrs. Lockwood, Mrs. D. M. Galusha, Mrs. Fred Robertson, Mrs. Ed Robertson and Mrs. Hiram Norcross. Lemonade was served throughout the evening by Miss Catalina Mason. The trophy which was awarded to Harry Heimple last night has now been won three times. S. B. Amidon was the first victor, Prof. C. P. Clark, the second and now Harry Heimple is the third.

It was intended to award the ladies' trophy cup last night which was won several weeks ago, but the victor was unable to be present to receive it. The trophy was presented by F. Varney.

The house which was opened last night is well adapted to the needs of the club. It contains three rooms, in one of which are the members' lockers, in the second the ladies' lockers, while the third is used for a reception room.

Harry Heimple won the last game of the tournament yesterday afternoon by 11 strokes over Prof. Clark. The score stood Harry Heimple, 138; Prof. Clark, 129, and Victor Murdock, 145.

The scores in detail was as follows: Clark, out, 5 3 10 7 9 3 4 12-62; Murdock, out, 5 6 7 10 6 12-67; Heimple, out, 5 6 9 3 4 6 8-53. Totals: Clark, 62; Murdock, 67; Heimple, 53.

The Braeburn Golf club has eighty-six members, whose names are as follows: R. L. Holmes, Edna V. Mason, J. S. Neff, F. H. Robertson, H. W. Darling, A. W. Anderson, J. N. Richardson, Dr. Purvis, E. G.
